NATIONAL

Assembly Of Educators To Meet In Chicago

Chicago, July 5—Thousands of educators from all parts of the United States are already gathered in this city and many thousands more will arrive here before next Monday to attend the Fifteenth annual convention of the National Education Association, which will begin tomorrow with three sessions of the educational council. The convention which promises to be of especial interest and importance, is scheduled to continue through next week, closing with a general session on Friday evening, July 12.

The Auditorium Hotel and the Congress Hotel have been selected as the headquarters of the convention and the sessions of the general convention will be held at the Auditorium Theatre. In addition to the general sessions there will be daily sessions of nine of the principal departments, with round table conferences, addresses and demonstrations by noted experts. Among the departments which will hold special meetings are the departments of Kindergarten education; of Elementary education, Normal Schools, business education, child hygiene, science instruction, physical education, special education, school patrons, rural and agricultural education.

Fifty or sixty of the leading churches of the city have arranged special sermons and addresses on educational matters for Sunday and have invited the delegates to attend services. The rest of the day will probably be devoted by most of the visiting members to sight-seeing tours through the city on their own account.

The real work of the convention will begin on Monday. In the morning there will be a number of departmental meetings and in the afternoon the first general session of the convention will be called to order by President Carroll G. Pearce of the association, who will deliver his annual address after the conclusion of the customary welcoming speeches. Immediately following the afternoon session the members from each State will convene in places assigned to them to choose their representatives upon the committee which will nominate officers for the coming year.

When the time comes for the election of officers a stormy session is expected in which the "progressives" will be arrayed against the conservative or "machine faction." The progressives, led by members of the Interborough Association of Women Teachers of New York, will probably open the fight and will make every effort to have their candidate for the presidency, Miss Grace E. Strachan, of Brooklyn, elected. There has been considerable dissension among the two factions for the last two or three years and the feeling has become so strong that in the opinion of many members an attempt of the "machine faction" to overrule the progressive element may lead to a split between the warring factions and a complete disruption of the association.

In the course of the sessions many subjects of great educational importance will come up for consideration and discussion. The subject of establishing a national university supported by the government will be discussed by four presidents of state colleges, Edmund J. James, of the University of Illinois; Charles R. Van Hise, of the University of Wisconsin; James H. Baker, of the University of Colorado and William O. Thompson, of the University of Ohio.

Among the famous educators who will attend the convention and deliver addresses are Baroness Bertha von Suttner of Vienna, said to have inspired the Nobel Peace foundation, whose annual award of $40,000 she won by her book, "Lay Down Your Arms;" Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, noted as the leader of the pure food agitation; Jane Addams, head resident of Hull House, in this city; Dr. E. J. Russell, director of the Rothamsted Experimental Station of Harpenden, England, which has records of crops raised by various systems for more than fifty years; Dr. F. B. Dresslar, specialist in school hygiene and sanitation in the United States bureau of education; Dr. David Starr Jordan, president of the Leland Stanford, Jr., University; Dr. Philander P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, Dr. Luther Halsey Gulick, director of the department of child hygiene, Russell Sage Foundation, New York, and many others.

The program of entertainment includes many notable features, including a big reception to the officers and members at the Art Institute on Monday evening, automobile tours of the parks, boulevards and playgrounds throughout the city, a trip on the steamship Theodore Roosevelt along Chicago's shore line and visits to the life saving stations on the lake shore north and south of the city.

WAS TRIP

To Buckeye Lake Taken By A Centerburg Man

Lost His Suit Of Clothes And About $280

Also A Diamond Ring Which Was Valued At $250

Went In Bathing And Lost His Ticket

And Clothing Was Secured By Another Man

Centerburg, O., July 5—Raymond Brown, a well known barber of this place, went to Buckeye Lake on the Fourth of July and the trip proved to be a most expensive one.

In the afternoon, Brown decided to go in bathing and left his clothes at one of the customary places for that purpose. In his suit Mr. Brown had $280 in money, a fine gold watch a diamond ring valued $250.

Mr. Brown was given a ticket to secure his clothes after a plunge in the lake.

In some unaccountable manner Brown lost the ticket which someone found and immediately claimed Mr. Brown's clothing.

The Centerburg man tried to explain to the person in charge of the check room, but it was of no avail, as the clothes and the valuable ring and the watch were turned over to the man who had the ticket. Brown called upon a number of his friends for assistance and secured a new suit of clothes and made the trip home.

The police in the surrounding cities and towns have been notified and an effort will be made to apprehend the man who secured Mr. Brown's suit and jewelry.

Norman Benn, employed at the Anna Critchfield farm on the Coshocton road, just east of the city, was severely injured Thursday evening when his buggy was struck by a street car at the corner of Catherine street and Coshocton avenue. His injuries are not serious.

Mr. Benn had been into the city and was returning home when the accident occurred. One car had passed in front of him and he supposed that there was no danger of another following so closely. Mr. Benn was thrown out and the buggy was badly damaged. While he sustained several very painful bruises, Benn received no broken bones or internal injuries. The horse broke loose from the disabled buggy and ran home. The animal was not struck by the car. Dr. S. E. and B. C. Deeley attended the injured man.

BURGLARY

At The G. H. Jones Bakery And Restaurant

$50, A Suit Of Clothes And Shoes Stolen

About $50 in silver money, a suit of clothes, a pair of shoes and a revolver were stolen from the George H. Jones bakery and restaurant on West High street some time Thursday night. The thief, who is alleged to have been an employee in the bakery department, made a successful get away and is being sought for by the police.

On Friday morning the employees of the bakery and restaurant arrived at the building and immediately saw that something was wrong. A suit of clothing was found to be missing and a pair of shoes had likewise disappeared. The failure of one of the employees to report for work at the usual time bore with it a great deal of significance. The man has left town, as far as has been learned, and no trace can be found of him. The belief is general that the missing man committed the robbery and escaped on one of the night trains on the Pennsylvania lines.

The suspected employee had evidently planned the work before hand as marks were found on the door leading from the kitchen into the dining room where the money was taken. A larger auger had been used to bore a hole through the door in order to reach the latch which was fastened on the dining room side. However, the man must have discovered that there was an easier way and did not bore the hole entirely through. He took the more convenient method and lifted the latch by means of a knife blade thrust through the crack at the edge of the door.

Mr. Jones held a conversation with the man in the evening. The latter remarked that the night was too warm for sleep and that he dreaded going up to his room. As a matter of fact he had taken a nap both in the morning and afternoon and was not bothering about sleep. Furthermore he had no intention of going up to his room for the purpose of going to bed, but began operations preparatory to committing the burglary as soon as the establishment was closed.

On Friday morning Mr. Jones filed an affidavit in the mayor's court charging Charles Davis with grand larceny. The warrant was issued and was placed in the hands of the chief of police.

A local physician rendered surgical attention.

While it is thought that the animal was merely cross when it attacked the boy, it was thought best to lock it up for a time to await a possible development of rabies.
